

ACTIVITIES REPORT 2017

Kalamata, 24 January 2018

Introduction

2017 was an especially successful year for K.A.NE. Social Youth Development, as it managed to double its collaborations both at National as well as International levels, Implement 3 successful international training courses, 1 international youth exchange, a big conference on volunteerism and active participation and many more local and international activities and expand its activities on the field of work-based learning.

Additionally, the team of the volunteers of the Youth Centre of Kalamata reached the number of 50, managing to coordinate over 50 weekly workshops, as well as a different event every week, in collaboration with many civil society organizations of the Messinian region.

The 10th Kalamata Street Festival was also very successful, increasing the number of volunteers that supported it to over 70, as well as the parallel activities, with new civil society organizations participating in its implementation.

Closing another successful year, we are setting our goals for 2018. These are the following:

- ✚ The sustainability of the Youth Centre of Kalamata, as an independent youth structure run by a team of volunteers
- ✚ The implementation of activities focused on work-based learning and the development of activities that will support international learning mobility, esp. in the form of VET traineeships
- ✚ Continuation of our activities that aim at active citizenship and participation, promoting volunteerism, combating discrimination, fostering equality, supporting vulnerable groups, training youth and youth workers as well as informational activities for our local community in social, educational, environmental and other issues
- ✚ Continuation of the implementation of successful Volunteering Activities projects
- ✚ Growth of the Kalamata Street Festival
- ✚ Coordination and participation in ERASMUS+ and other European programmes, in line with the aims and objectives of the organisation
- ✚ Expansion of the network of the organization at national and international levels
- ✚ The general sustainability of the organization and further expansion of its activities
- ✚ The recognition of the profession of youth worker and of the importance of non-formal education
- ✚ The development of the European ALTIUS network for the promotion of volunteerism and Active Citizenship, which we started in 2015.

11/01/2017 - 13/01/2017: Participation in the 1st Transnational meeting of the Digital Girls ERASMUS+ KA2 strategic partnership in the field of youth project in Sofia, Bulgaria. This was the kick-off meeting of the project and the partners discussed the aspects of the project, delegated tasks and set milestones and the next steps to be taken. K.A.NE. was represented in this meeting by Mr Filaretos Vourkos, Director

The project Digital Girls is an ERASMUS+ KA2 strategic partnership in the field of youth project that aims at inspiring and motivating girls and young women to consider careers in the digital technology market. Nowadays the young generation uses digital tools on daily basis but often has neither the confidence nor the initiative to upgrade their passive user skills into "active" digital skills. This lack of "digital confidence" may become an important disadvantage for young people when looking for a job. In this case girls are in a worse situation than boys. Whether this is due to the lack of digital role models or just the general stereotype that "programming is not for girls' brains", the reality is that women do not fully participate in the digital sector.

14/01/2017 - 21/01/2017: Implementation of the international seminar "Feel, Share, Act! Youth Empowerment through Intercultural Learning" in the framework of the programme ALF/CFP/2015/EDU-ART co-funded by the Anna Lindh Foundation.

20 participants from Greece, France, Tunisia and Egypt under the guidance of 2 trainers in Non-Formal Education, shared ideas, exchanged good practices and know-how and, finally, developed skills in creating non-formal learning tools and methods that they can use to promote intercultural learning and dialogue in their local communities.

The seminar was very successful and the participants were able to receive the necessary tools and methods that would help them to implement the local workshops on Intercultural learning (2 days in each of the participating counties).

K.A.NE. was represented in this meeting by Mr Filaretos Vourkos, Director and Mr Bozidar Dimic, representative of SCI Hellas organization

The project “ACT Youth in Movement” is implemented in the framework of KA3 of the European Learning programme ERASMUS+ and aims at creating innovative citizen pathways for young people with fewer opportunities, by providing them with the opportunity to realize a volunteering project with migrants or refugees in Greece or Italy. The project will involve 54 youngsters from the deprived neighborhoods of Roubaix, Liverpool and Brussels and from Greece and Italy in volunteering projects supporting vulnerable migrants.

Objectives:

- Develop volunteering projects to promote the inclusion and integration of unemployed young people at risk of exclusion or victims of discriminations and potential radicalisation*
- Allow these young people to get involved with newly arrived migrants in order to develop values of citizenship, solidarity and tolerance*
- Disseminate the good practices of the project and success stories of these young people and to make their experience known in their sending communities, and especially in the deprived neighborhoods they come from. The objective is to attract other young people towards volunteering projects and to fight against the risks of isolation and violent radicalization.*

In order to achieve these aims, the 6 partners of the project will:

- Share existing good practices related to sending and hosting volunteers*
- Create a new training for young people so that they can work properly with newly arrived migrants or refugees*
- Send 45 volunteers in projects in Greece and Italy (in projects with migrants)*
- Organize 9 volunteering projects at the local level*
- Create videos and dissemination tools illustrating citizen pathways of the volunteers, before their departure and during their project to show the values of engagement and solidarity*
- Disseminate these good practices and these videos in the deprived neighborhoods to fight against exclusion and radicalization*
- Work closely with institutions and organize a large dissemination event at the end in Brussels involving decision makers in order to make recommendations on youth policy.*

In it participated 22 people active in the youth field and 2 trainers from 11 countries, Greece, Spain, France, Italy, Germany, Portugal, Romania, Croatia, Bulgaria, Hungary and Norway.

The activities were based on non-formal learning tools and methods, that gave the opportunity to the participants to participate actively in all activities and facilitated the sharing and exchanges between them.

The objectives of the project were the following:

- involve the participants in an interactive process of defining imagination and creativity and their importance for young people
- explore how imagination and creativity can be used as a tool for youth development, focusing on young immigrants and refugees, their active participation in Civil Society Activities and their smooth integration into society
- Promote the exchange of best practices and the transfer of innovation.
- Discover and create tools and methods that support the development of imagination and creativity of the young people
- Enable participants to reflect on the already successful good practices and develop new ones.
- Share knowledge about the ERASMUS+ programme and create a network for the development of common projects in the near future

Through this project, the participants developed skills and competences in designing creative activities for youth, managing youth groups and counselling youth for taking initiatives and evaluating their work, focusing on working with young immigrants and refugees and on the creation of activities that promote their social integration. These competences are now passed on to the participating organization, building their capacity and improving the services they provide to young people, and especially to young people with fewer opportunities.

During the seminar, we created the module for a workshop on how to build a CV. You can find it here:

(https://issuu.com/kane.kalamata/docs/link\_93)

23/04/2017 - 30/04/2017: Implementation of the training course “Online portfolios: Use of ICT for the registration and assessment of lifelong learning”, implemented in the framework of the ERASMUS+ programme/KA1 Mobility of Youth Workers.

22 youth workers will participate in it from 11 different programme countries, Greece, Croatia, fYRoM, Hungary, Italy, Latvia, Portugal, Romania, Turkey, Bulgaria and Spain, supported in this learning process by 2 trainers.

The main aim of the “Online portfolios: Use of ICT for the registration and assessment of lifelong learning” project was the development of skills by the participants, followed by capacity building of the organizations that they represent, in order to be able to suggest and train the young people they are working with, improve the services they provide to the young people and reinforcing the connection between the skills acquired through non-formal learning and the labour market.

The objectives of this project were:

- To familiarize participants with online portfolios and the ways to create them, in order for them to be able to implement activities to train the young people they are working with
- To discover the role of new technologies and IT in reinforcing youth employability
- To demonstrate how the creation of an online portfolio can work as a tool for the connection of the labour market with the competences and skills that are developed through non-formal education, as well as how the mere process of creating it acts as a factor for the development of creativity, entrepreneurship and digital competences

- To support the participants, and consequently the organization that they represented and the young people they are working with, to develop their competences in using ICT in an effective way, and as a tool to empower young people with fewer opportunities and support them in improving their place in the European Labour Market.
- To present the ERASMUS+ programme as one of the basic tools of the European Union in achieving equal opportunities for all and supporting young people to develop transferable skills and competences.
- To create an informal network between partner organisations and to collaborate for the development of future common activities that support young people

The trainers prepared and used a series of non-formal learning tools and methods, such as simulations, work in groups, presentations, round table discussions, debates, etc. All activities were designed in a way so as to contribute to the achievement of the objectives of this project as well as of the best possible learning outcome for the participants.

The participants and the participating organizations of this project, are now acting as multipliers of its results, spreading the knowledge about the creation of online portfolios among their colleagues, peers and the young people they are working with at local and international levels, maximizing the impact of the project in their local communities, but also in the wider European community.
